

Case of Blood Stained Bedding Ends in Court

The mystery of the "bloody bedding" found Wednesday, Sept. 12 in the hills near the Torrance-Falos Verdes boundary, was unraveled when it was discovered that the bedding was connected with the murder-suicide of a Hawthorne couple a week earlier, according to Chief of Police John Stroh and Detective Sergeant Percy Bennett, of the Torrance Police Department.

Two relatives of a Hawthorne couple who were murder-suicide victims admitted dumping the gory effects in the roadside area here. Judge Otto B. Willett fined them $25 each and ordered them to burn the items.

The relatives who touched off the investigation here with the bedding were James Wilson and Theodore Gibbons, both of Gardena.

Board Okays Employment Of Teachers

Junior Chamber Hears Talk by Torrance Inventor

Vic Chatten, Torrance inventor of the famed beach-cleaning machine, was guest speaker last Thursday night, Sept. 13 at the meeting of the Torrance Junior Chamber of Commerce. Chatten, who resides at 1567 W. 215th st., with his wife, got the idea for his machine while overseas in the South Pacific during the last World War. A feature on Chatten appeared in the Torrance Press about a year ago, in which more about Chatten and his machine is explained.

This word was received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Baker of the above address. Both David and his brother Norman, are stationed in Japan with the 578th Engineer Battalion.

Jaycees Give Safety Award To Bus Driver

Sherman Miller, bus driver for the Torrance Municipal Bus Lines, was presented with a Safety Citation last Monday by Joe Helphand, member of the Torrance Junior Chamber of Commerce Safety committee, for five years of no-accident driving for the city of Torrance. Miller was presented the citation as part of the Jaycees current accident prevention campaign.

Joe Mongini, Jaycee chairman of the campaign, pointed out that Miller drives about 150 miles each day for the city, having responsibility for the lives of all his bus passengers.

As part of the campaign, the Jaycees have put up safety posters in the windows of many Torrance merchants and are planning to build two safety signs to be posted permanently at two conspicuous intersections in the city.

Mongini said that Jaycee Bob Lewellen Jr. has arranged to have a wrecked car followed by an ambulance and siren to parade through the streets of downtown Torrance this Saturday morning as part of the safety drive. He added that the Jaycees are also arranging to show safety films to Torrance children at school.

Safety slogans have also been stereotyped on the streets of Torrance by the Jaycees in their "No-Accident" campaign.

Adult School Instructors Employed

The School Board of the Torrance Unified School District approved the recommendation of 17 instructors in the adult education program, effective Sept. 17, 1951 as needed. Salary rates are to be in accordance with adult education salary scale adopted by the Board on June 6, 1950.

Instructors hired are as follows:
